

Stingrays

By: Megan Perrino

The stingray is a flat _____ fish. Stingray are found in _____ waters.

They prefers _____ over _____ water because when the weather begins to _____ the stingrays retreat to the _____ of the ocean.

*Cool Fact * Stingrays are believed to be closely related to _____ .

The scientific name of a Stingray is _____ Stingrays are category in _____ different orders.

1. Kingdom: _____

2. Phylum: _____

3. Class: _____

4. Order: _____

5. Family: _____

Stingrays range from _____ inches to _____ inches in size. Also, they can weigh as little as _____ pounds or as big as _____ pounds. Their top speed is _____ mph. The life span is _____ to _____ years. Stingrays do not live in _____. They live alone which is also known as _____.

Stingrays are _____. Their main prey are _____, and _____. Predators are _____, and _____.

Stingrays reproduce_____.Stingrays breed during the_____. The female will give birth to _____ young. The female reproduces 5 to 15 babies, know as a _____. The litter develops in the womb for about _____ months. When the litter is born they are able to_____ and_____ with their mother.

A stingray is most known for the _____ at the end of the tail. The stinger is _____ .
The size of the sting depends on what _____ the stingray is. This stinger is full of deadly _____ that can even kill a _____ .

COOL FACTS!!

- Ancient Greek dentists used the venom as_____
- Venom remains _____ even if it is taken from a _____ stingray.
- Stingrays swim by moving their _____ up and down similar to _____.

Manta Rays

Unlike stingrays, Manta Rays do not have _____ stingers.
These types of rays often visit a “_____”. At these sites _____ fish clean the rays of parasites.

