

Caecilians

©2012 Jonathan Hakim

• Kingdom: _____

• Phylum: _____

Class: Amphibia

- An amphibian is a cold-blooded _____ animal.
- Caecilians are a group of _____, _____ amphibian.

Caecilians

- Are often mistaken for _____ or _____.
- They grow to be _____ inches to _____ feet long and there are over _____ species.

- Caecilians have a _____ jaw and head like structure that helps them burrow through _____.
- They are _____.
- Their _____ are filled with many _____ teeth that they use for eating worms and _____.
- Some species prefer small _____, frogs and _____.
- Like snakes they swallow their _____ whole.

Reproduction

- Caecilians reproduce _____.
- Many of the _____ will hatch fully developed but some may still hatch as _____.
- Although some species lay _____, most give birth to live young.

They eat their mother?

- Once hatched the offspring will _____ with the mother eating off her skin.
- The skin the mother grows provides _____ and _____ for the babies.

- What caecilians lack in _____ they make up for in _____.
- During sexually reproduction the process lasts for _____ to _____ hours.
- All but _____ species have _____ but they prefer to use their mouth and _____ for _____.

- Sources:

- [http://www.strangeanimals.info/
2014/12/weird-facts-caecilians.html](http://www.strangeanimals.info/2014/12/weird-facts-caecilians.html)

